New Christian Activities Building for Grove City College

(May 2009 – Grove City, PA) – Archer & Buchanan Architecture, Ltd. has been commissioned to design a new Christian Activities Building for Grove City College, Grove City, PA. The building will be located adjacent to the College's beautiful 1929 gothic style sandstone and limestone Harbison Chapel. The new building will serve as the home for the Dean of the Chapel and more than 23 student run ministries. The building will also house a large fellowship hall, a great room (or board room), seminar and meeting space. The building is intended to support Chapel programs and serve as the center for spiritual life on campus. The building will also allow the College greater opportunities for institutional outreach, spiritual fellowship and social programs and events.

The building is sited on a wooded hillside with views towards a mature woods, creek and the campus landmark "Rainbow Bridge". The Grove City College campus was designed by the Olmstead Brother (the sons and successor firm to that of Fredrick Law Olmstead). The College has remained true to the Olmstead plan and the new 21,000 SF building builds on and respects the original campus plan. The building will have a traditional aesthetic in keeping with the collegiate gothic/Tudor style of all the College's buildings.
